In addition, on the basis of this article, the College of Deans can grant Ius promovendi to other staff members.
2. Ius promovendi may be awarded to persons who hold a doctorate and who, in the opinion of the College of Deans, are competent to act as Supervisor.
3. In relation to a staff member who holds the position of Associate Professor, the fact that the requirement referred to in paragraph 2 has been satisfied may be determined on behalf of the College of Deans by the Dean of the faculty where the staff member concerned is employed. The Dean evaluates the competence of the staff member concerned in relation to the criteria set by the College of Deans for this purpose.
4. A staff member who holds the position of Associate Professor and who believes that the Dean of his faculty has, as a result of the evaluation referred to in paragraph 3, incorrectly assessed his competence in relation to the requirements set out in paragraph 2, may inform the College of Deans of this situation. He must submit a reasoned request to the College of Deans detailing why he believes this to be the case. Once the Dean in question has also given his account, the College of Deans will decide on the reasoned request submitted.

These Regulations entered into force on 1 September 2002 and were last amended on 1 February 2018.

PROCEDURAL REGULATIONS

1. An application for admission to the PhD programme is made once a PhD candidate has been employed, but no later than one month after the date of commencement of employment.
2. 7. The College of Deans shall inform the candidate in writing of the decision regarding admission to the PhD programme and send copies to the Dean, the Supervisor and the Co-Supervisor. The addresses and email addresses of the Supervisor and the CoSupervisor shall also be stated on Form I, insofar as these addresses are outside of the University.
8. The College of Deans has established criteria that can demonstrate whether a candidate who fulfils the position of associate professor has sufficient competence to act as supervisor. The Dean assesses the competence based on the following criteria:

9. Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 11, paragraph 8 and Article 13, paragraph 1, in exceptional circumstances and on the reasoned proposal by the Dean, the College of Deans may decide to appoint a third Supervisor or Co-Supervisor. 15. Professors at the University, professors from other universities and those who are taking part in the closed session may walk in the procession. The professors shall wear the ceremonial cap and gown. Co-Supervisors and opponents who are not full professors are required to wear dark clothing in keeping with the occasion.

16. During the PhD ceremony, a male candidate is required to wear evening dress (white tie). A female candidate is required to wear clothing in keeping with the occasion. In special cases, the Rector Magnificus may honour a written request from the candidate and grant
